About the Rustic Canyon Family

What started off as an intimate series of family dinners in Founder Josh Loeb's Rustic Canyon home became the flagship restaurant in December 2006, and also where he eventually met award-winning baker Zoe Nathan. Josh and Zoe, both Santa Monica natives, began organically opening more neighborhood restaurants with their partner Colby Goff to form what is now the Rustic Canyon Family. This collection of beloved, chef-driven dining destinations includes Rustic Canyon, Huckleberry Bakery & Café, Sweet Rose Creamery, Milo + Olive, Cassia, Esters Wine Shop & Bar, Birdie G's and The Dutchess.

The group embraces seasonality and makes as much as possible in-house using classic craftsmanship and technique, sourcing the highest-quality ingredients from local farmers and vendors with sustainable, organic and regenerative practices. Each restaurant takes "family" to heart, by ensuring all guests, as well as employees, feel at home, and leave satisfied, nourished and inspired.

Whether you're planning a small gathering, catering a holiday meal, seeking a large celebratory space or hosting a big off-site party, we're here for you! Our restaurants work together too, which means you can have the Sweet Rose Creamery ice cream cart at Birdie G's, unite Cassia and Esters' spaces for one big buy-out, or have Huckleberry and Milo + Olive cater something together. The possibilities are deliciously endless!

Sweet Rose creamery

Our neighborhood ice cream shops at the Brentwood Country Mart and along Santa Monica's Main Street are where childhood nostalgia meets thoughtful, locally-sourced ingredients. We make nearly everything from scratch and are inspired by the nearby farmers' market, so ice cream flavors change monthly and with the seasons. We can bring our ice cream cart for big, off-site parties or set up a sundae bar with our vintage red cooler for smaller gatherings. For catering, we have a variety of ice cream cakes, party packs and more frozen treats!

Birdie G's

Chef/Partner Jeremy Fox's Eastern European-inspired restaurant is the place to be! There's something on the farmers' market-driven menu for everyone, with California wood-grilled meats and fish, handmade pastas, playful salads and veggie dishes, whimsical mashups like "World Famous" Rose Petal Pie and more. Housed in a former art museum at Bergamot Station, we're surrounded by galleries and creative work spaces, so it's a fun, industrial vibe that still feels warm and homey. We have a variety of areas for small to large gatherings, like an expansive outdoor area and 50-person private dining room. Plus, we can host a full buyout for up to 150 people seated.
